Captured and donated by Pat Lopez

Pat Lopez maintains a beautiful full acre of carefully crafted garden at her West Lincoln home. This sanctuary serves as great habitat for many migrating birds and insects. It also provides ample opportunity for her second passion: photography. Her work captures the beauty of nature, and this stunning piece represents the crucial work pollinators do for our natural places.

Pat has been an avid supporter of Spring Creek Prairie Audubon Center for many years. She is pleased to be supporting this year's event through our auction and also as our volunteer coordinator for the event. Thank you, Pat, for all you do for the tallgrass prairie in Nebraska!
